Dear Prospective Partner,

First off, we appreciate you taking an interest in becoming a speaker at the Queens Space Conference, Canada's premier student-run space conference. Our conference is being held for the fourth year in a row and has proven to be an exceptional experience for those who have attended.

QSC is a unique event, presenting speakers with the ability to interact with interested and motivated students. The majority of our delegates are undergraduate students from some of Canada's most successful Universities with devotion and fascination in the space industry. Our audience presents a speaker like yourself the special chance to connect with and inspire each and every one of the audience members. By becoming a part of our conference and voicing your rare and unique experiences in the space industry, you will in turn spark the 150 intellectual and passionate minds attending QSC.

While QSC is a phenomenal opportunity for a speaker to inspire, promote, and network with all of those attending in a space specific environment, we, as a team, are looking to have you specifically speak. With your rare and captivating work and experiences in the space industry, you are looked upon highly from each member of the QSC team and will truly make QSC 2016 one of the greatest conferences Canada has to offer.

Of course, we understand the busy and demanding work of a professional in your field of work. We would like to put forth our best efforts to accommodate the travel, hospitality and your busy schedule to have you here for QSC 2016. It is our aim to not only attract intriguing speakers for our delegates, but to also make sure our speakers are treated to a worthy experience at QSC.

We genuinely hope that you can speak at QSC 2016 and can help create Canada's premier student-run space conference even better than it ever has been before.

On behalf of the entire QSC 2016 team, thank you and we hope to see you in the near future.

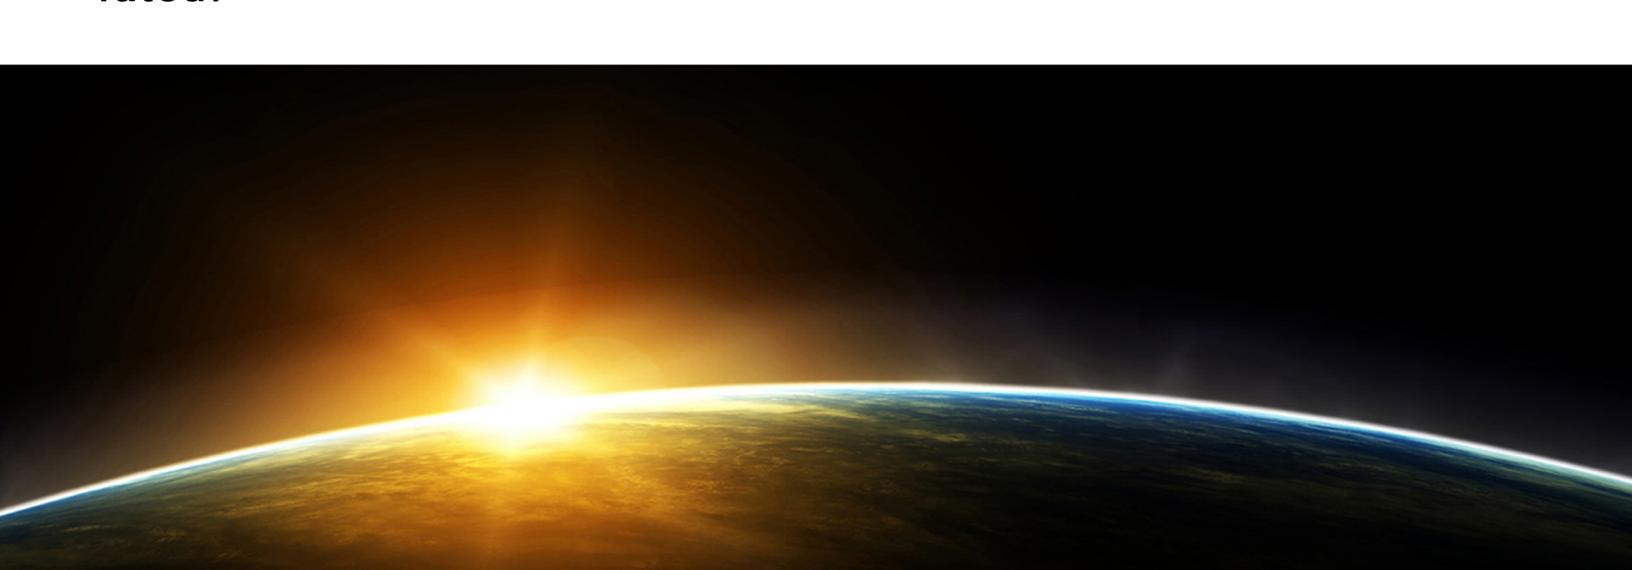

WHY QSC?

Queens Space Conference, Canada's premier student-run space conference, is excited to bring undergraduate students and space enthusiasts together for the fourth year in a row! It is our mission to provide an opportunity for our delegates to explore the endless possibilities and knowledge of the space industry.

Our conference is organized with the intent to be beneficial to each and every one of our speakers, sponsors, and delegates in attendance. The goal of QSC is to inspire our delegates to explore the expanding space industry through intriguing speakers and presentations. This in turn promotes the industry as a whole by sparking interest in the minds of those looking to pursue space-related careers in their future. Finally, QSC provides professionals the ability to network in one convenient venue with hundreds of minds with similar interests.

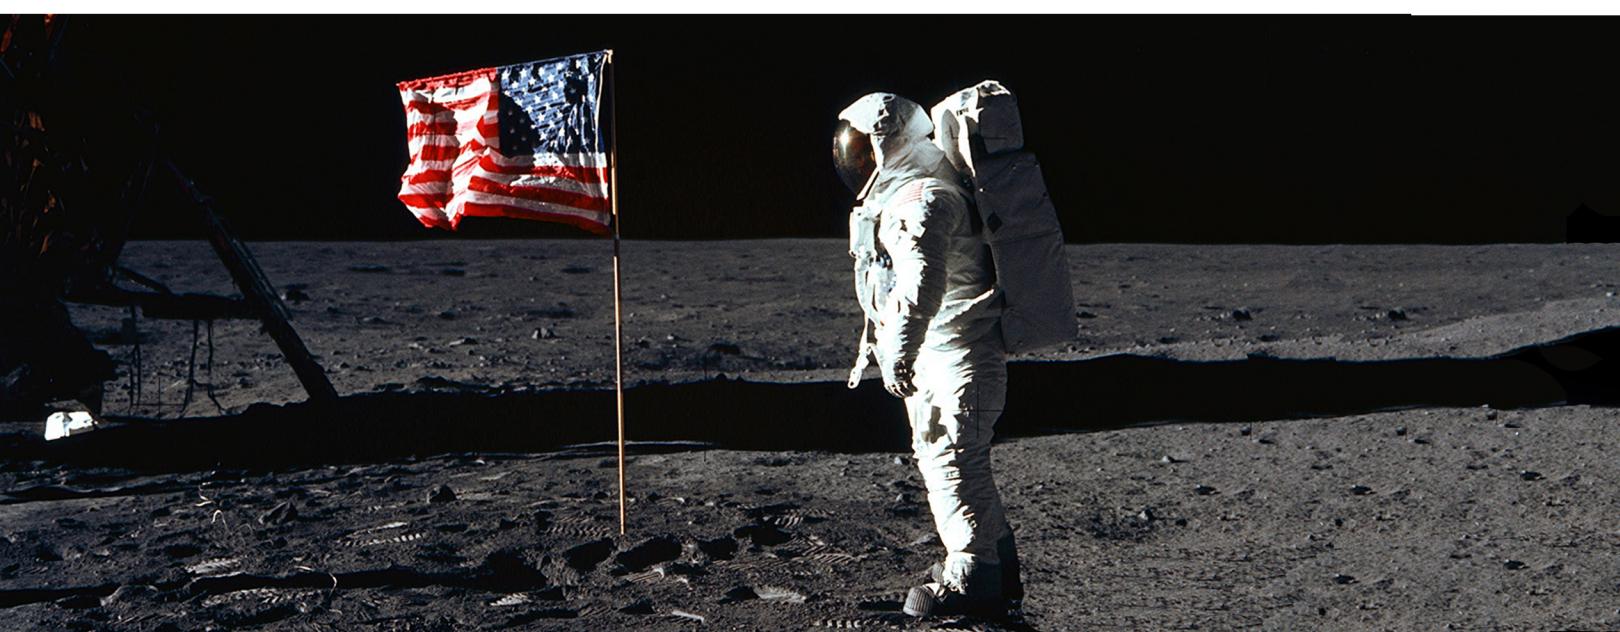

QSC offers the ability for students and industry professionals to connect in an environment focused around space. QSC takes pride in being able to host an event in which students and professionals alike are exposed to content that is entirely space related.

Each year, QSC focuses on a specific theme to organize our event around. This year we are looking to provide an experience like no other, with information that cannot be found anywhere else.

QSC 2016 will be bringing in speakers from around the world to share their unique stories of how they started in space, what they have had the opportunity to participate in, where they see the space industry in the future, and much more. The title of our conference is "The Civilian's Guide to the Galaxy". Our aim is to show the human side of the industry; what it is like to be in this field and what passion drives everyone in what they do. All in attendance will be able to understand what it is truly like to be working in an industry of the world's greatest technologies and innovations.

By having speakers like you in attendance, we will be able provide the unique experience that we are striving for, and experience that is unrivaled by any other student-run event.

The Queen's Space Conference is the premier undergraduate space conference in Canada. Our conference is a bridge between education and industry, and we are continually expanding. In helping shape the next generation of space industry workers, QSC strives to create a dynamic event where both the personal and technical sides of the industry are explored. This offers a unique and invaluable opportunity for partners to help grow exposure and interest in an organic fashion.

QSC hosted students from four different universities last year, and will look to pull from more areas across Ontario and Quebec. The amount of delegates being accepted this year is increasing to 150 from 84 in 2015 and 50 in 2014; almost doubling from last. In addition, delegates are screened through an application process to ensure top tier interest and engagement.

QSC will provide accommodation and meals for speakers throughout the conference, which will be hosted at the Four Points by Sheraton in Kingston, Ontario. Food restrictions and allergies will be accommodated for.
